ADOPT AN EMERGENCY SHELTER

During Tropical Storm Irene, Atlantic County evacuated over 100,000 residents and visitors, many of whom had no place to go and rode out the storm in an emergency shelter operated by volunteers in cooperation with local governments and the American Red Cross.

No one knows when the next catastrophic event will impact our area, but we do know we need to be prepared to shelter those in need with the support of volunteers and community partners.

Assistance is needed to:

- Move equipment to a shelter site
- Operate and maintain a shelter
- Set up equipment
- Break down a shelter
